

Coffman Named Champion of National Security

(LONE TREE, CO) — Rep. Mike Coffman (R-Aurora) has been honored by the Center for Security Policy with the “Champion of National Security” award for his 100% rating on the center’s National Security Scorecard for his voting record in the 111th Congress.

“I’m honored to be recognized by the Center for Security Policy,” Coffman commented. “As a Marine Corps combat veteran and member of the House Armed Services Committee, I am dedicated to keeping America safe and defending our freedom from those who wish to do us harm. I will continue to advocate for our men and women in uniform and work to secure our borders.”

The center released its ninth National Security Scorecard evaluating the voting record of members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives on vital defense and foreign policy issues to the U.S.

The Center for Security Policy is a non-profit, non-partisan national security organization that specializes in identifying policies, actions, and resource needs that are vital to American security. The center was founded in 1988, working on the establishment of successful national security policies through the use of all elements of national power – diplomatic, informational, military, and economic strength.
